 - (a) an approved benefit fund should be classified as defined contribution where the benefit is derived from contributions made by the member, in accordance with the approved benefit fund rules, together with the investment performance of the assets of the approved benefit fund; and
 - (b) an approved benefit fund should be classified as defined benefit where the amount of any benefit is specified in, or determined in accordance with, a formula set out in approved benefit fund rules and the amount of the benefit is not directly related to the assets of the approved benefit fund or the investment performance of those assets.
8. Where an approved benefit fund provides for a benefit which meets the characteristics of both paragraphs 7(a) and 7(b), then the approved benefit fund must be classified as either defined benefit or defined contribution according to the dominant characteristics of that benefit.

 - (d) the extent to which level of unallocated surplus may give rise to undue intergenerational inequity;
 - (e) the extent to which the proposal is fair and equitable as regards different members of the particular approved benefit fund and the general membership of the friendly society;
 - (f) the extent to which the proposal would equitably reflect the relative contribution of different members to the creation of the surplus;
 - (g) the extent to which the surplus has arisen due to management fund fees being less than the cost of servicing the approved benefit fund;
 - (h) the possible and probable effects of the proposal on the finances of the approved benefit fund, and the friendly society more generally; and
